No Parking Zones Approved to Enhance Safety

SAN BERNARDINO – The Board of Supervisors on Tuesday approved no-parking zones on Sultana Avenue in unincorporated Fontana that will help improve safety on the road.

A business owner contacted the County and reported that vehicles parked on the east side of Sultana block the view of commercial truck drivers exiting businesses on that side of the street. The County Department of Public Works Traffic Division investigated and determined parked vehicles block drivers' views as they are turning from driveways onto Sultana Avenue.

Public Works recommended prohibiting parking in several locations on the east side of Sultana Avenue near Muscat Avenue to improve safety.

"Trying to turn onto any road with parked big rigs blocking your view in both directions is a hazardous situation," said Board of Supervisors Chairman Paul Biane, who represents unincorporated Fontana as the County's Second District Supervisor. "Thankfully, a local business owner took notice of this traffic safety issue and reported it to the County."

Public Works will install no-parking signs on Sultana Avenue near Muscat Avenue in about two weeks.
